Dear Sir or Madame:

It is with great pleasure that I am writing this letter of recommendation for David Hiestand.

What first comes to mind when thinking of David is his dedication to hard work and skill when it comes to challenges. He approached each task with a willingness to learn and attention to detail that will serve him well in any educational setting. Even in an online environment, his positive attitude, excellent work ethic, obvious intelligence, and pleasant demeanor were apparent, which made him a wonderful student to have in the course.

One of David's more valuable attributes is his determination to do whatever it takes to achieve a goal. David obviously strives to do his best in school as is exhibited by his actions in my class. He took my Introduction to Dramatic Literature course in the fall of 2012, a course many students find challenging, especially with respect to the writing component. David made sure to contact me with any issues he had, resulting in excellent essays. In addition, he also brought his formidable academic skills to peer reviews and class discussions, which helped others in the class as well. His diligent work paid off, for he was one of the few students who earned an A for the course.

David Hiestand is someone who teachers want to teach and colleges want to enroll. I highly recommend him for admittance to your university. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at (916) 660-8024. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Susan Lucyga
